Dear Nancy,

The years they come, the years they go,
but events keep rolling along.
— me

Four down and none to go, patience rewarded,
etc. etc. L.H.S. bye-bye.....
Well, I've got one more, ya know. It's been great. To paraphrase the song, "you've done something to me, something that simply mystifys me...." You know what? That's the truth.
The real truth. I'll never forget it....
"~~They~~ The days of wine and roses, they bring back to me such a memory ...." ... That memory is warm. Very warm. I'll treasure it — always.

Warm are the memories of those dear to hea
Sweet are the times and the tears.
But, best is the living, the breathing, the art of know'ing one tender, ~~for~~ till ending of years
— Mark Moran

Such it is.

God bless you, Nancy, and may all happiness and truth come to you — one who truly deserves ~~such~~ it.

All my love,

Mark

Nancy,

To one senior who I will miss more than [redacted] most - good luck in college & congratulations on getting sprung from this joint!

Dear Nanc,

I've learned a lot from you. Four years just couldn't have gone by with a better shoulder to cry on, friend to confide in, buddy to have. In everything you did, Nanc, you were a real inspiration to those around you, espicially to me. I want to thank you for being so generous with your time and advice in helping me with acting techniques, costumes and personal problems. I think we've had a lot of good laughs and times together. And I'll always thank you for introducing me to that English tea!

God bless you after graduation. Let's try to keep in touch.

Love,
Debbie

Dear Nanc,

Now that I have your book I'm at a loss for words to express my true feeling of the friendship we really developed this year. You are truly the bestest friend I have at Lutheran & I certainly hope to see you and keep in touch during the summer and when we embark on our careers. College should really be cool considering we're going to the 2 best schools in the country. I can't wait to see your name up in lights as Lady Macbeth or in "Faust" ha! ha! oh yes) about Faust, give me a short 3000 words paper on the significance of this fabulous work of art. (no poison pen letters please). I really don't understand why we didn't become friends sooner, I did have you in my classes. With all of the things we have in common and all of the serious conversations we've had - I know you've helped me many times I hope I've helped you over some of the rough spots in this past year. We talked most of the time in art (you really get me the way you can draw so very well) I've really (to quote Bernie) learned a lot from you. You are really someone a person can have fun with and yet talk intellegently to. I don't know how you could stay so understanding - listening to other people's problems can really get you down sometimes - But now - (even though that English test was a bear and religion well we do have 1 more test to make amends & that we have only 3 DAYS left - we can finally relax and calm down. We will get together this summer for sure - I already have something planned which I think you know about already. Now to bring this epistle to a close - God bless you always (you know I mean it. And best of luck + happiness always.

(cont'd)

Nancy,
Well, the year is finally almost over. It was great fun having you in Chorus + Chorallers. By the way, I like your attendance especially the staff on the walls of the room in the form of Music! Good luck in anything you do for the rest of your life and I'll see you at the 25th Reunion.
Mike

Nancy,
Were going to miss you next year at Cap" whatever you do keep singing. I wish you all the luck and happiness you can get in future years.

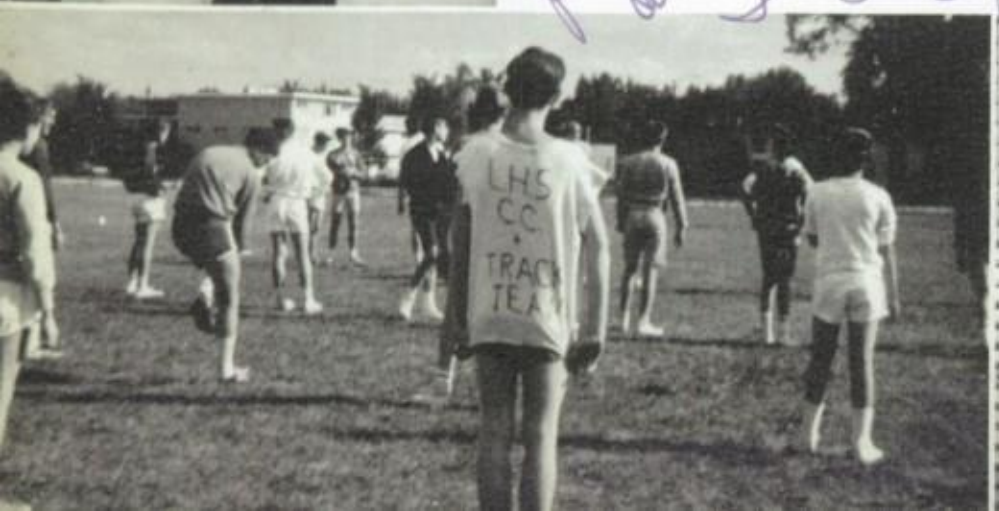
Dear Graduates of the Class of 1967 --

When you read these words for the first time you will be caught up in the excitement of your high school graduation. You will be enjoying the bittersweet days of bidding your school and friends a choked goodby, while at the same time the heart trips with joyous anticipation as one thinks of the happy tomorrows to come. You are delighted to think that after four years of effort you have finally come to the end of a major road of learning, but are filled with a sense of uncertainty as you vaguely see the many forks in the road that lead into the darkened tomorrows. You are ready to hold on to the present, even as you are reaching out to the tantalizing uncertainties of the future.

When you read these words for the second time much will have changed in life. The pen that wrote these words may have been put away to write no more, and newer generations tread the halls that you once walked. At that time may this book awaken long-ago memories that were nearly lost among the accumulations of the passing years. As you then turn these aging pages may the years fall away, and may also this record of a year of your life, lived long ago but captured here in all its freshness, may then this year, this "thing of beauty" be to you as it was to the young poet of long ago . . . "a joy forever".

When you read these words for the last time, either early or late as the years are counted in the lives of men, may you still be as you once were at the time of your graduation -- filled with expectation, joyously anticipating the dawning of another day, and ready to clasp even more firmly the hand of Him who has brought you through every tomorrow, and will also the final one. This is my hope and prayer for you each one.

Walter F. Steinberg



Nancy,
It's really been great to have you as a friend and suffering thru classes (Mod. Lit., Geometry) together. Lilies-of-the-Valley made Mod. Lit. more bearable.
Best of Luck in everything you ever do.
Love,
MaryLou

"Thanks be to God which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

We live in an age when teen-agers are expected to rebel, when young society forms special "in" groups, and when it is not in good form to show faith.In this generation it is hard for the Christian teen-ager to strive for what he knows is right.

St. Paul once said, "For me to live is Christ." In Christ any teen can find the final answer to his greatest needs, the complete dispelling of his fears, the rich fulfillment of his highest hopes. In this world of false ideals and over emphasis on pleasures, the teen must remember that anything good, anything true, anything that has brought lasting joy is a gift from Christ the Savior. The glories of the Christian life are peace, joy, and hope. Sometimes a teen forgets that the most important aspect of his life is his continuing walk with God. It is our prayer that as the class of 1967 goes out into the world, they will remember that the heart of education is truly the education of the heart.

Nancy, I haven't any words to express my feelings at this time. We've gained such a warm friendship that I don't want to lose it after graduation. You've stuck by me through thick and thin in choir these four years. You'll never know what your kindness and sincerity has done for me. I sure am gonna miss you next fall. Hopefully we'll still keep in touch next year and for many to come. At least we'll bump into each other at a concert or two.

May God bless you always as I know He will. Stay the way you are!

ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY

"A teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops."

Henry Brooks Adams

For 15 of his 36 years in the teaching profession, Mr. Steinberg has been principal of Luther South. He attended Concordia, River Forest, for two years and received his BA from Iowa State and his MA from Northwestern.

Being principal of Luther South has not been an easy task and Mr. Steinberg has worked admirably. Not only must he be concerned about the 1,000 students in the present student body, but also the future students. Mr. Steinberg is a dedicated man—dedicated to the administrating of the school and to serving God in his profession.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Seated: Mr. W. Steinberg, Principal, Dr. L. Menking, superintendent of the Lutheran High School Association, Mr. E. Mason, Chairman of the Board, Mr. W. Vick, Secretary, Mr. W. Klomhaus, Chairman of Finance, and Mr. E. Pahr.

Standing: Mr. W. Niebergall, Rev. N. Redeker, Rev. W.Weber, Mr. G. Zander, Chairman of Buildings and grounds, and Mr. C. Nehring.

Not Present: John Rusin

Mr. Pieper

Mr. Pieper has served as the Registrar of Luther South for 8 years. In the spring he registers each student for the following year and advises individuals on the selection of courses and vocations. During the summer he performs the tremendous task of setting up a schedule for each student. Because of his work the school operates smoothly.

Mr. Schroer

The dean of students at Luther South must have willingness to listen to others and patience to hear complaints. Mr. Schroer has shown these talents in the last two years as dean. In addition to guiding the students and reminding them of their Christian duty, Mr. Schroer teaches problems in democracy, a course which deals with American economy and with preparing students to live as good citizens.

Mr. Peters

In his first year as guidance counselor, Mr. Peters heads a group of teachers who govern students on personal and academic matters. One of his tasks is to inform students, especially seniors, of college requirements and scholarships. He also must prepare the juniors for participation in testing programs. Mr. Peters teaches Christian doctrine and freshman English.

ACADEMICS

Nancy.
You are truly one of the most talented people I've ever known. Your art work, singing, and acting are all terrific. But those things aren't enough — and you know that. You've proven yourself even greater by being a friend. You've done so much for me by always being so sincere and loyal. I'll never forget your thoughtfulness. May God bless you richly.
Love,
Mare

"The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom."
Psalms 111:10

Larry Pauly and Kathy Key look over different versions of the Bible.

Religion plays an active part in the life of each student at Luther South. A chapel service is conducted by a visiting pastor from the Chicago area every Tuesday morning. The devotion chapel, which is always open to students, provides a quiet atmosphere in which to speak with the Lord. Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday mornings are opened with a devotion given by one of the teachers over the P.A. Friday morning's prayer is written and given by a student.

Religion is required for all four years at Luther. Freshmen religion emphasizes the New Testament, the life of Christ, and the early church. The Sophomore year continues with the study of the Old Testament. Church History is taught during the Junior year. This course is highlighted with the extra study and visitation of churches of other religions. The Seniors study Christian doctrine.

Bob Caruso gives a report on the Old Testament.

Mr. Schulze presents the church visitation project to the church history class.

ENGLISH

Cliff Senkpiel, Sue Schalk, and Gerry Marecek discuss the bulletin board material for English literature.

Since English is so much a part of our daily lives, four years of English are required at Luther South. Grammar, composition, and vocabulary study are emphasized in each of the four years. Included in the sophomore English curriculum is a speech course. American literature in the junior year and English literature in the senior year emphasize the entire heritage of literature in our language. Offered as an elective for juniors and seniors is modern literature.

Karen Von Behren, Dean Funk, Pete Silzer, and Mr. Hilgendorf use the SRA composition series.

The modern literature class uses the over-head projector to criticize some work.

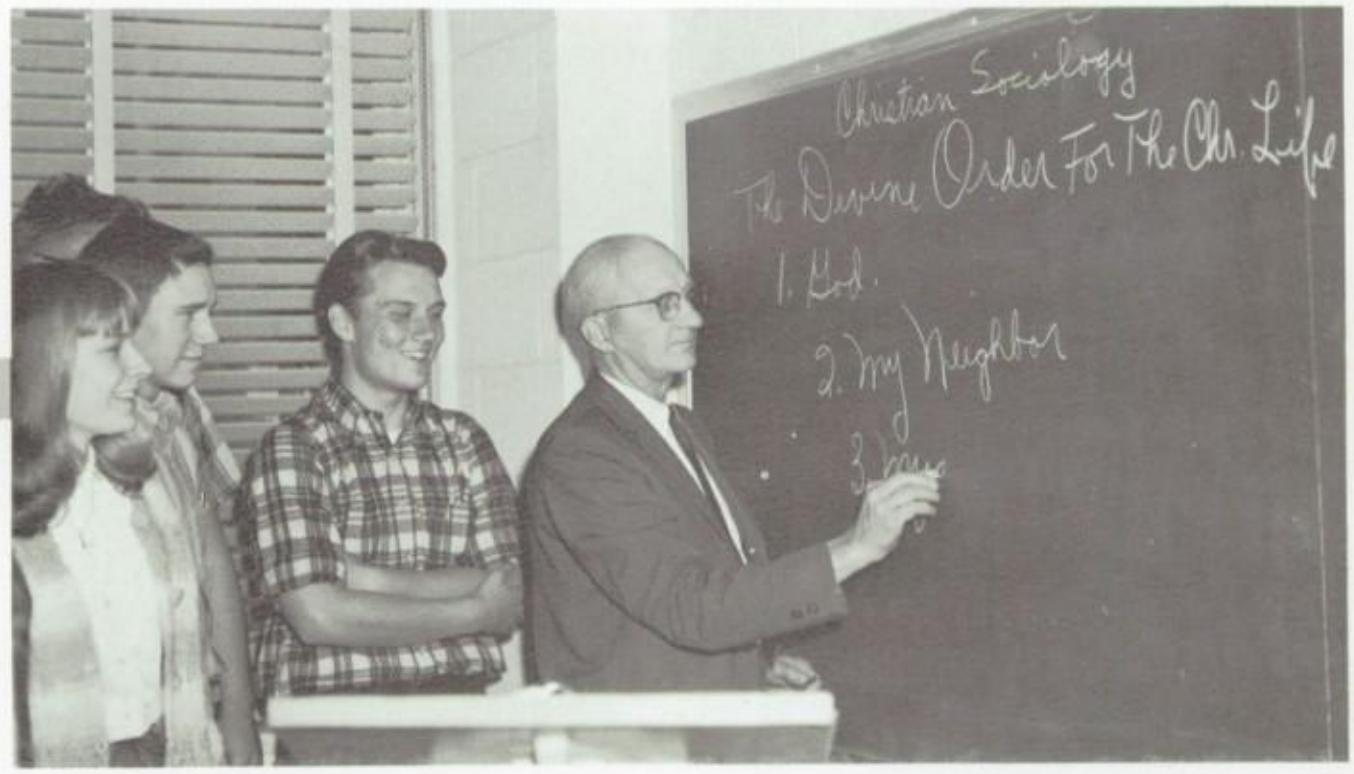
SOCIAL STUDIES

Bill Kaufman leads a panel discussion in problems of democracy with Randy Stennet, Amy Sedory, Shirley Vargo, Meta Anderson, Linea Anthony, and Betty Tanis.

Ray Tauc, Debra Dudley, and Gary Hager study the U.S. Constitution.

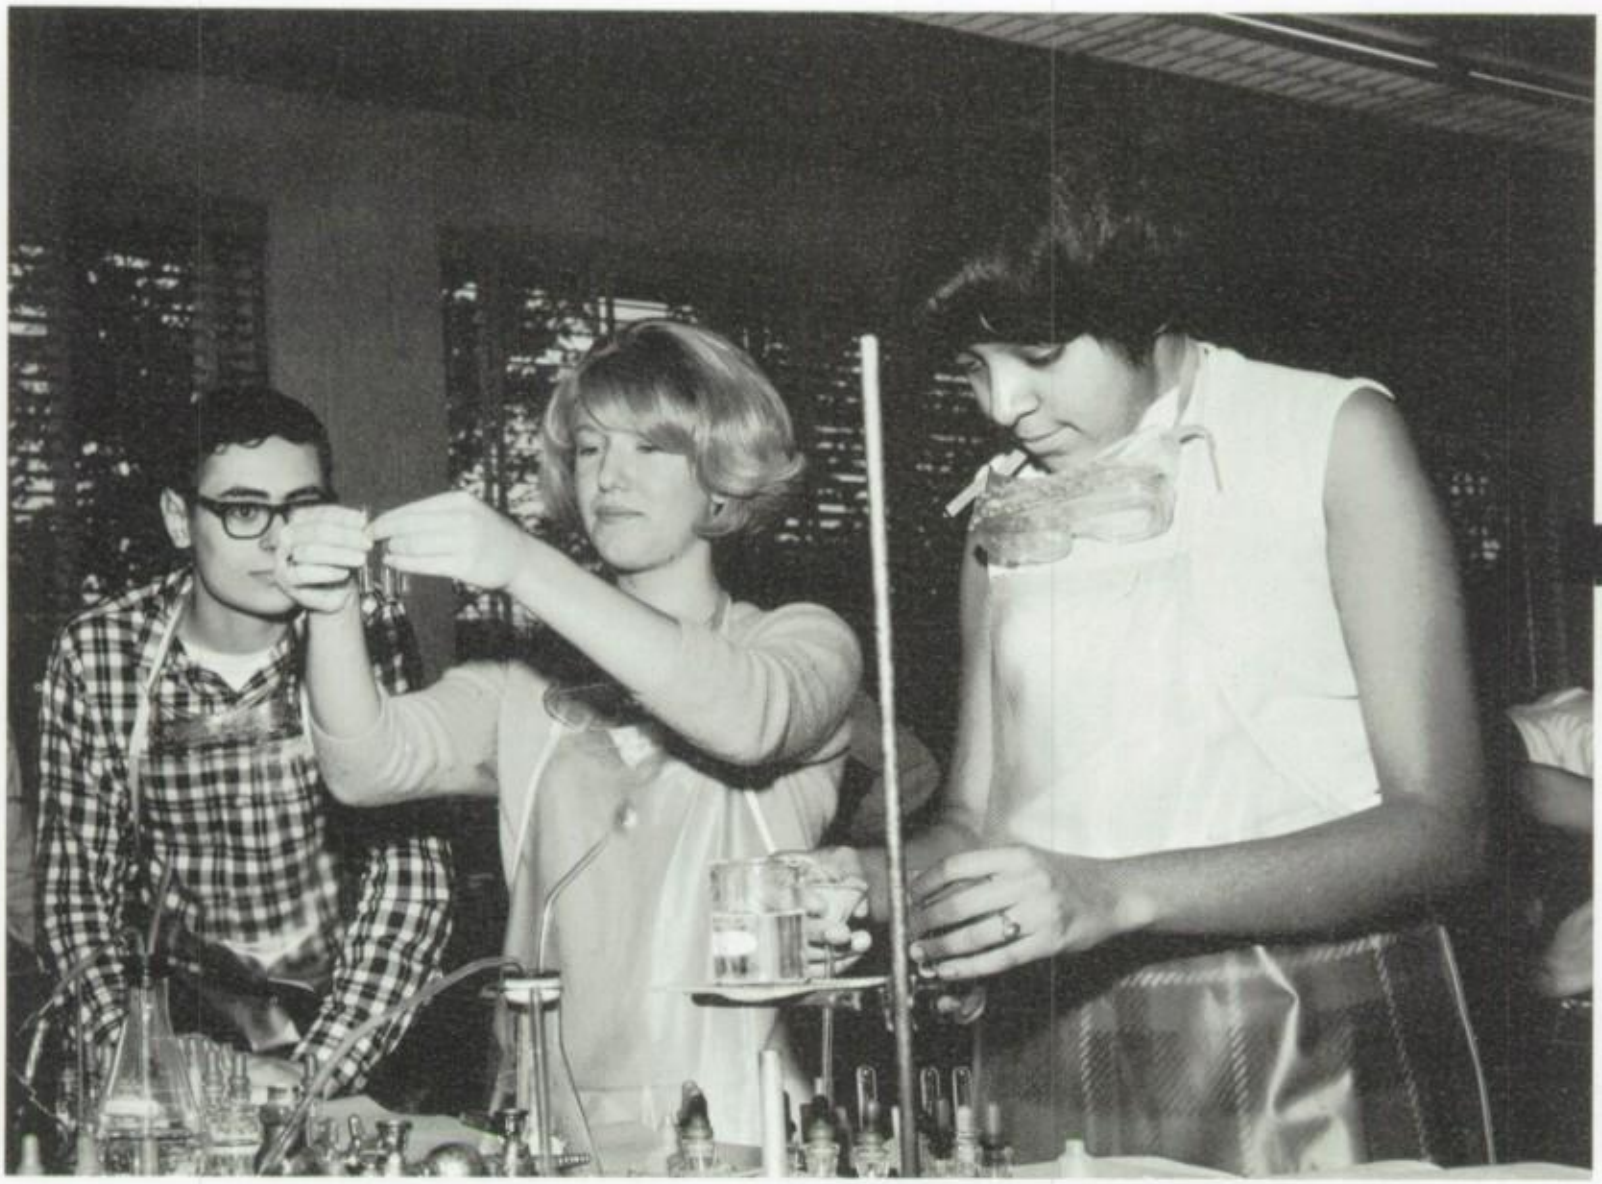
The Social Studies Department includes both electives and required subjects. The freshmen are given either a language or citizenship–geography, according to the student's pre-entrance exam. World history is required in the sophomore year if the student has taken a language his first year, and is also opened to juniors and seniors. During the junior year, students are required to take United States history. In order to graduate, each student must pass the Constitution test, which is given during this course. Sociology is a one semester course required for all seniors. Each senior has a choice of subjects for the other 1/2 year, and problems of democracy is usually taken.

Mr. Streit explains a population distribution map to two members of his geography class.

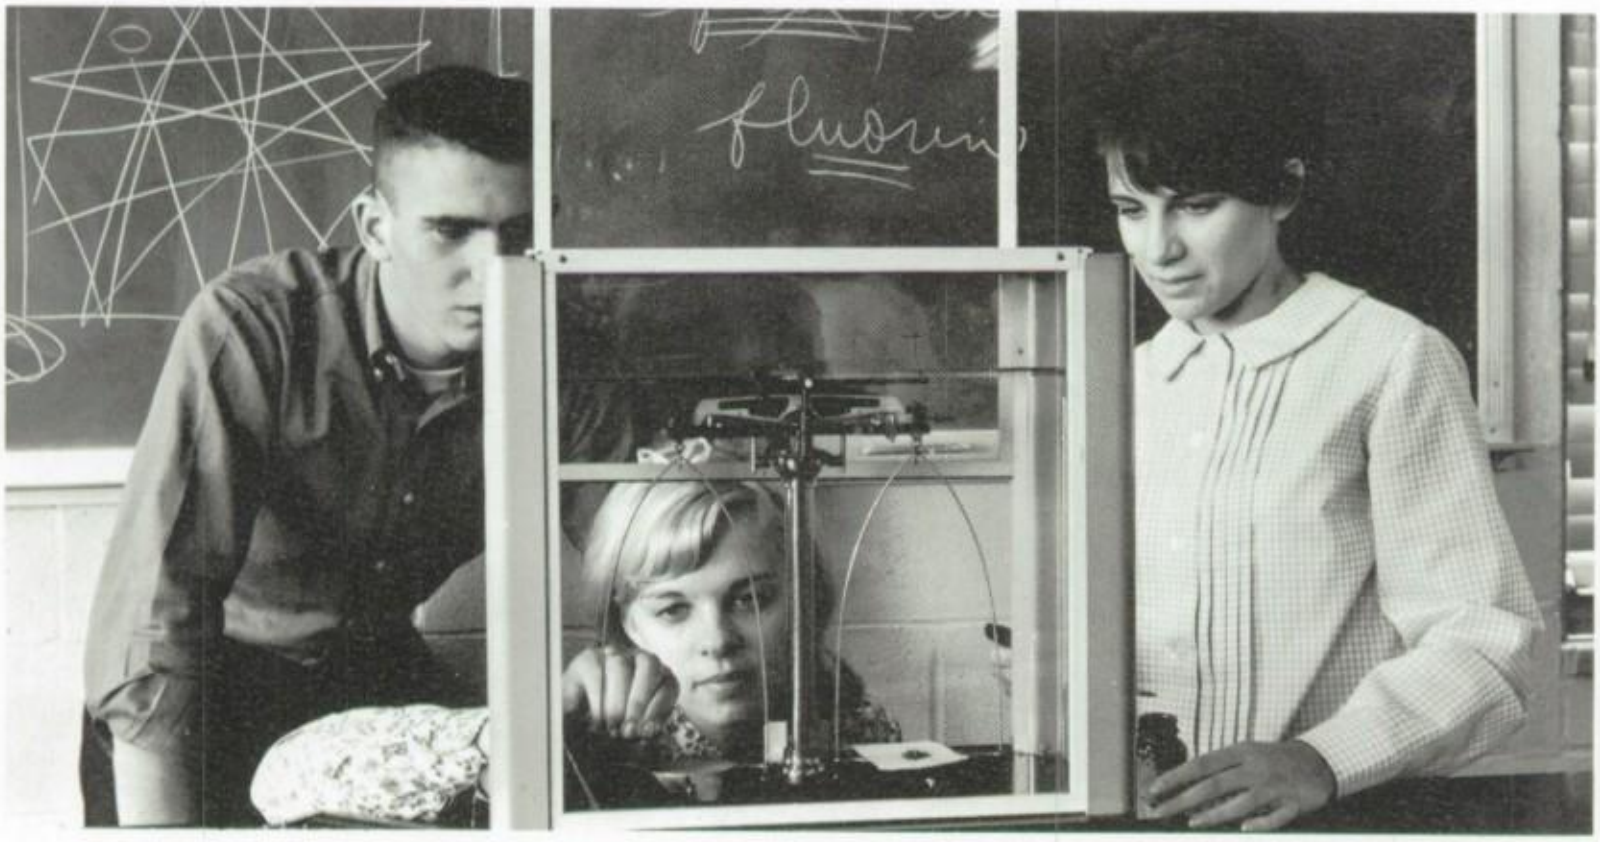


Pastor Spaude presents sociology outlines to some of his class members.

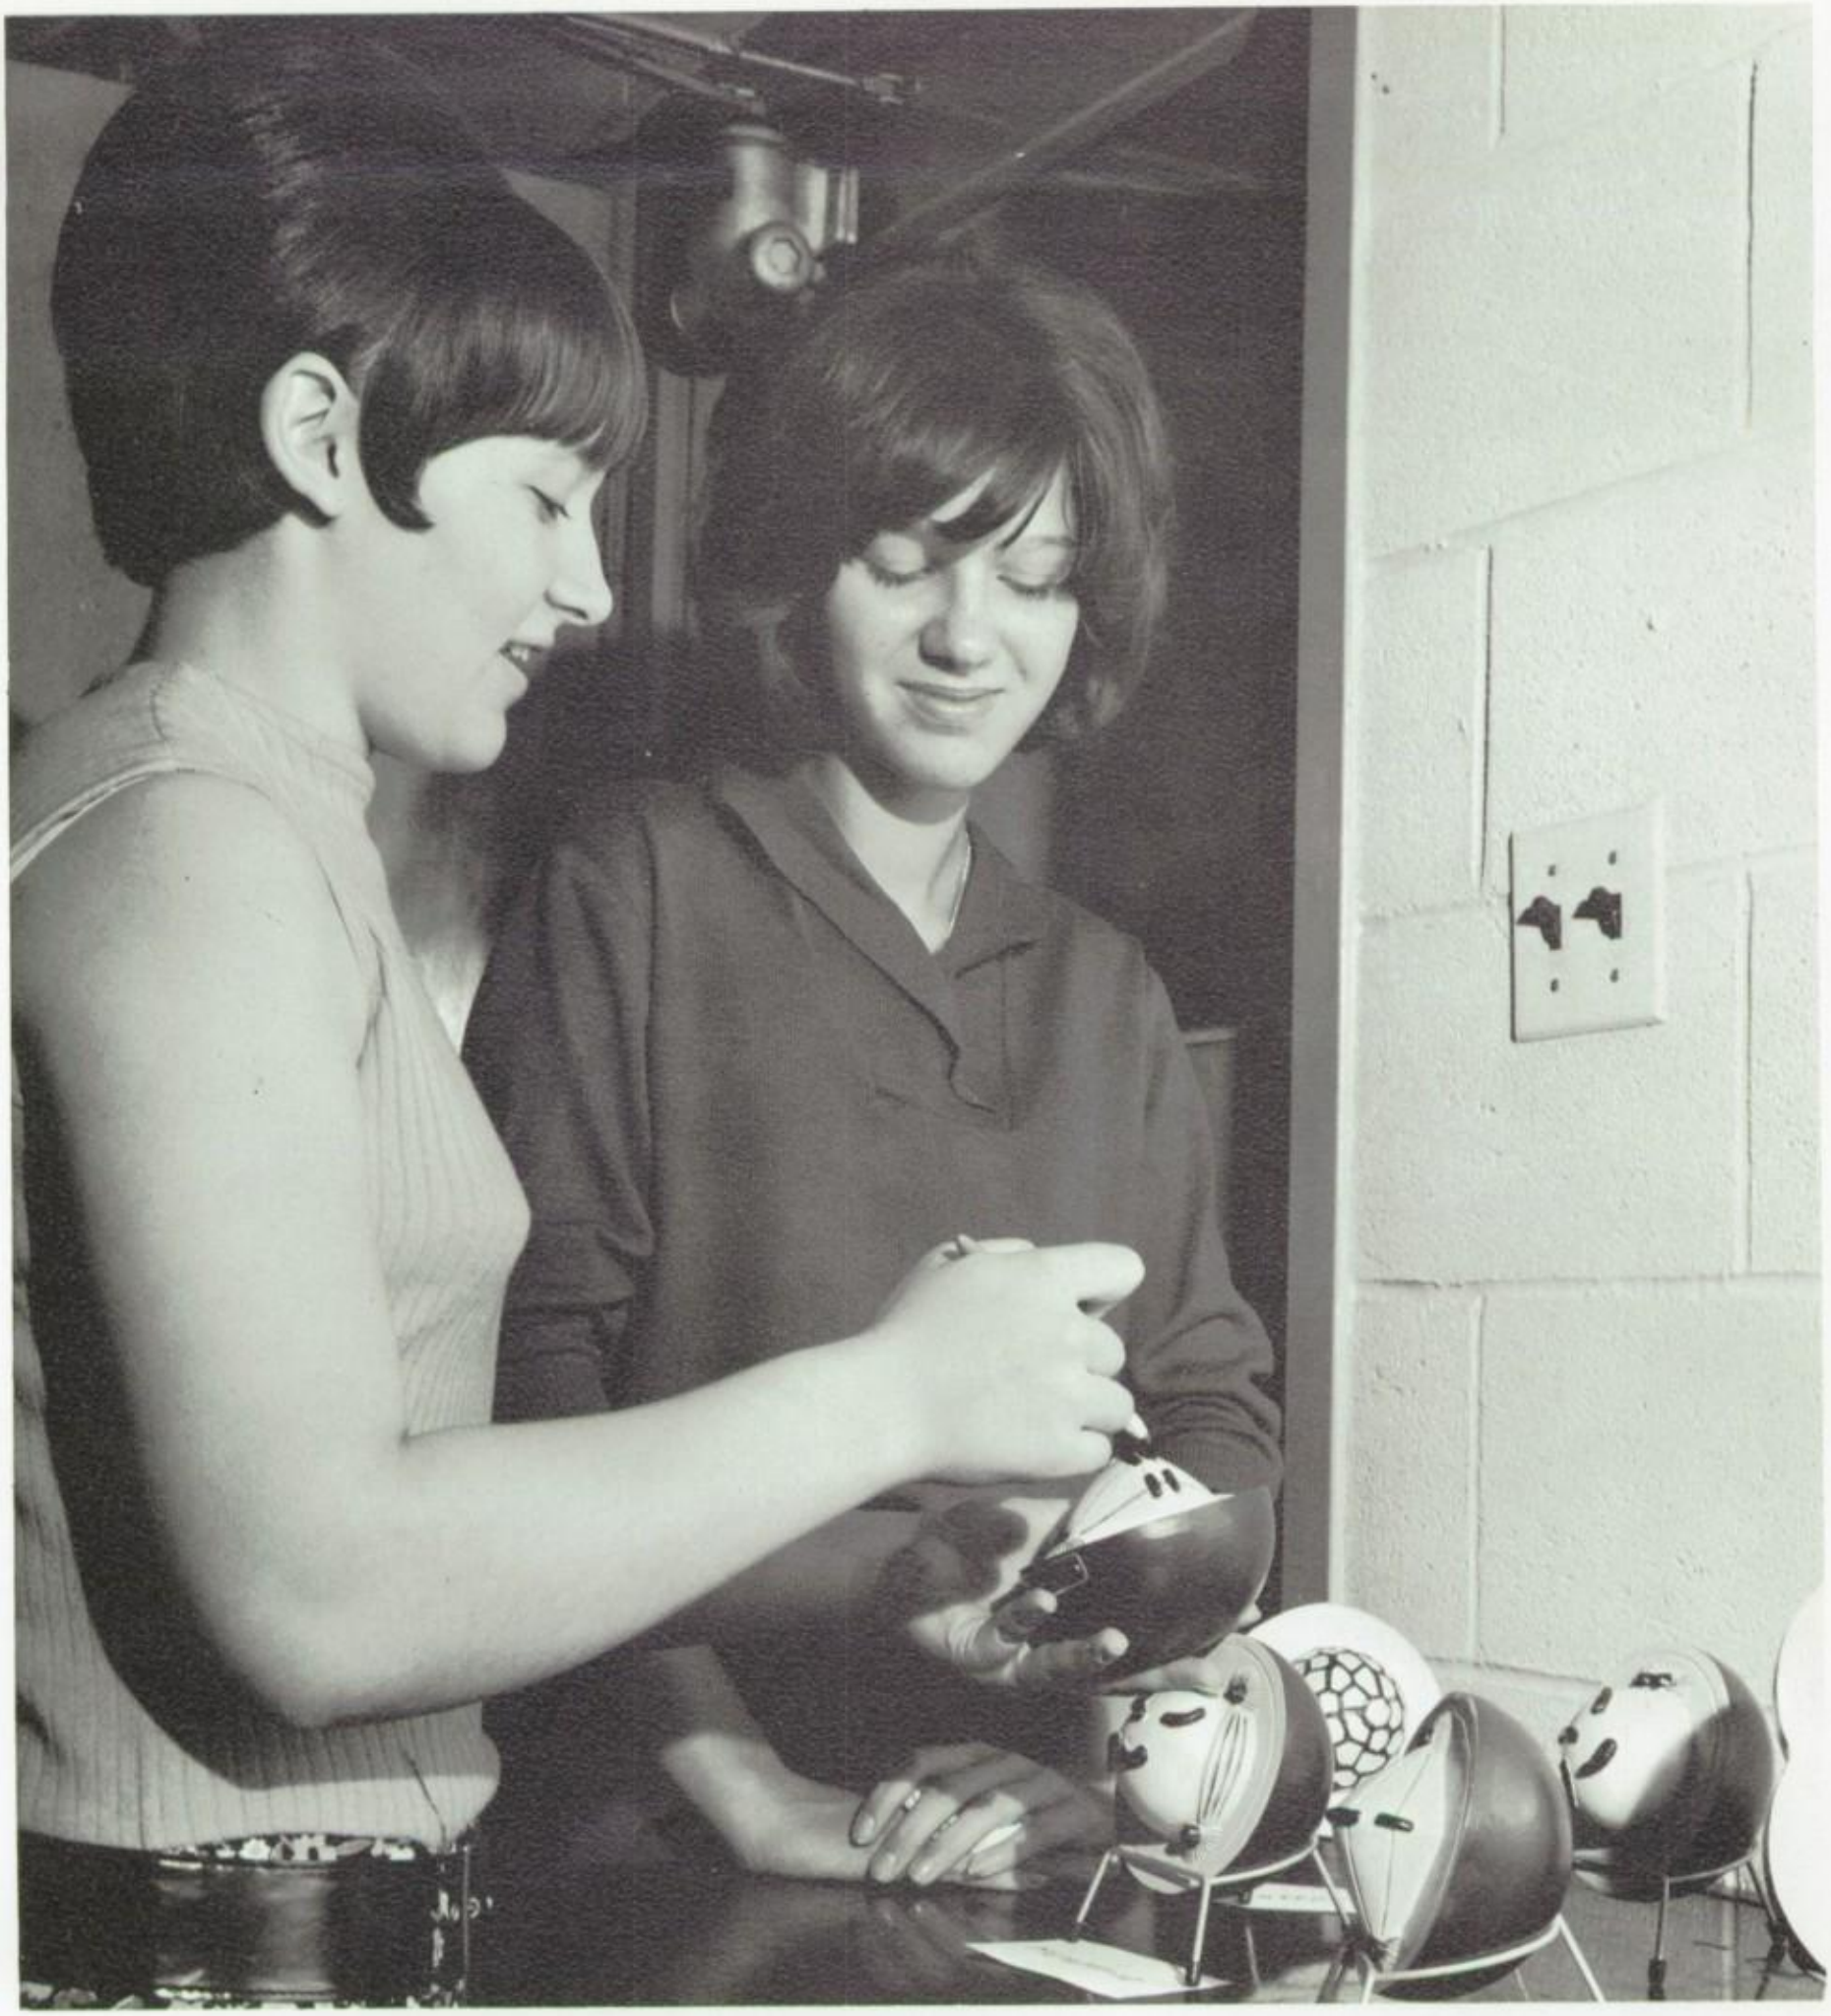
SCIENCE



Chuck Rusin, Pat Teutsch, and Ava Harris experiment in qualitative analysis.



Cliff Senkpiel, Mary Brauer, and Marilyn Zoellick are weighing crystals for Q.A.

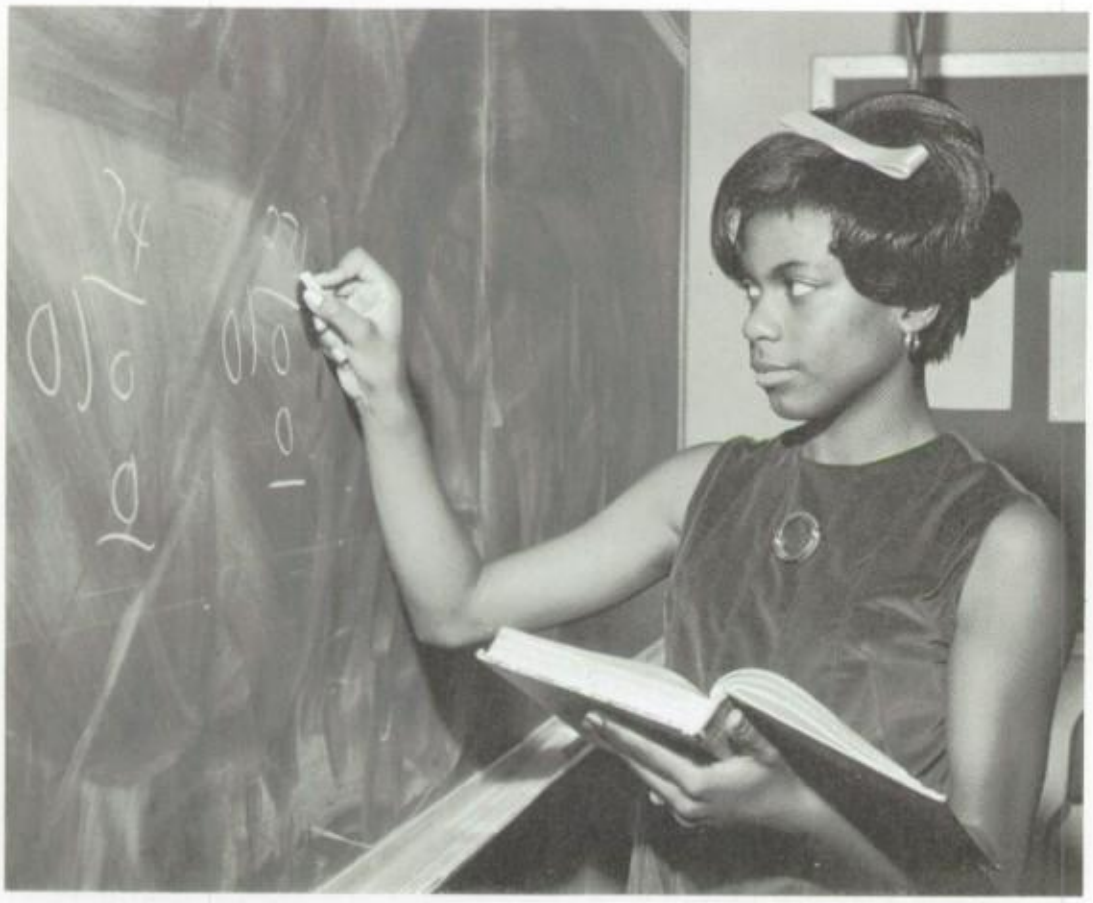


Two biology students studying mitosis.

The Science Department offers students a full course of studies. On the basis of a pre-entrance examinations, freshmen are placed in either general science or biology. Chemistry is available to juniors and seniors. Physics is also offered to seniors. Advanced students may register for qualitative analysis. In addition to classroom lectures, the instructors supervise laboratory experiments and semester projects.

MATH

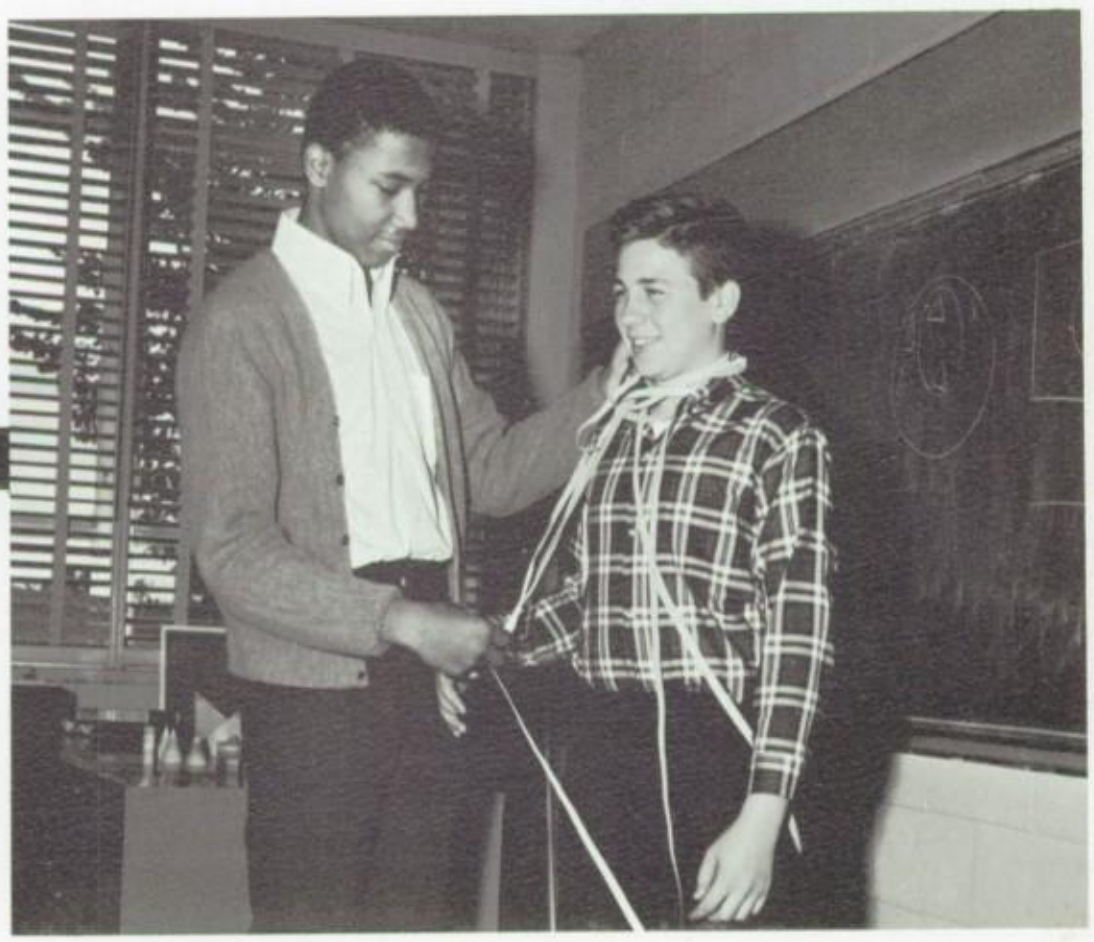
Advanced algebra students study important men of mathematics.



An algebra student demonstrates to the class how to work a problem.

The Mathematics Department at Luther offers a variety of math courses for all classes. Freshmen take either freshmen math or algebra. Sophomores may take geometry. For juniors and seniors courses are offered in advanced algebra and advanced math.

A math class studies sign numbers.



This is geometry?

LANGUAGES

Roger Lis and Pete Silzer carry on a German dialogue.

The Language Department at Luther offers three years of German and three years of Latin. The language courses stress not only vocabulary, but also the study of grammar, the speaking of the language, and the study of the mother country of these languages.

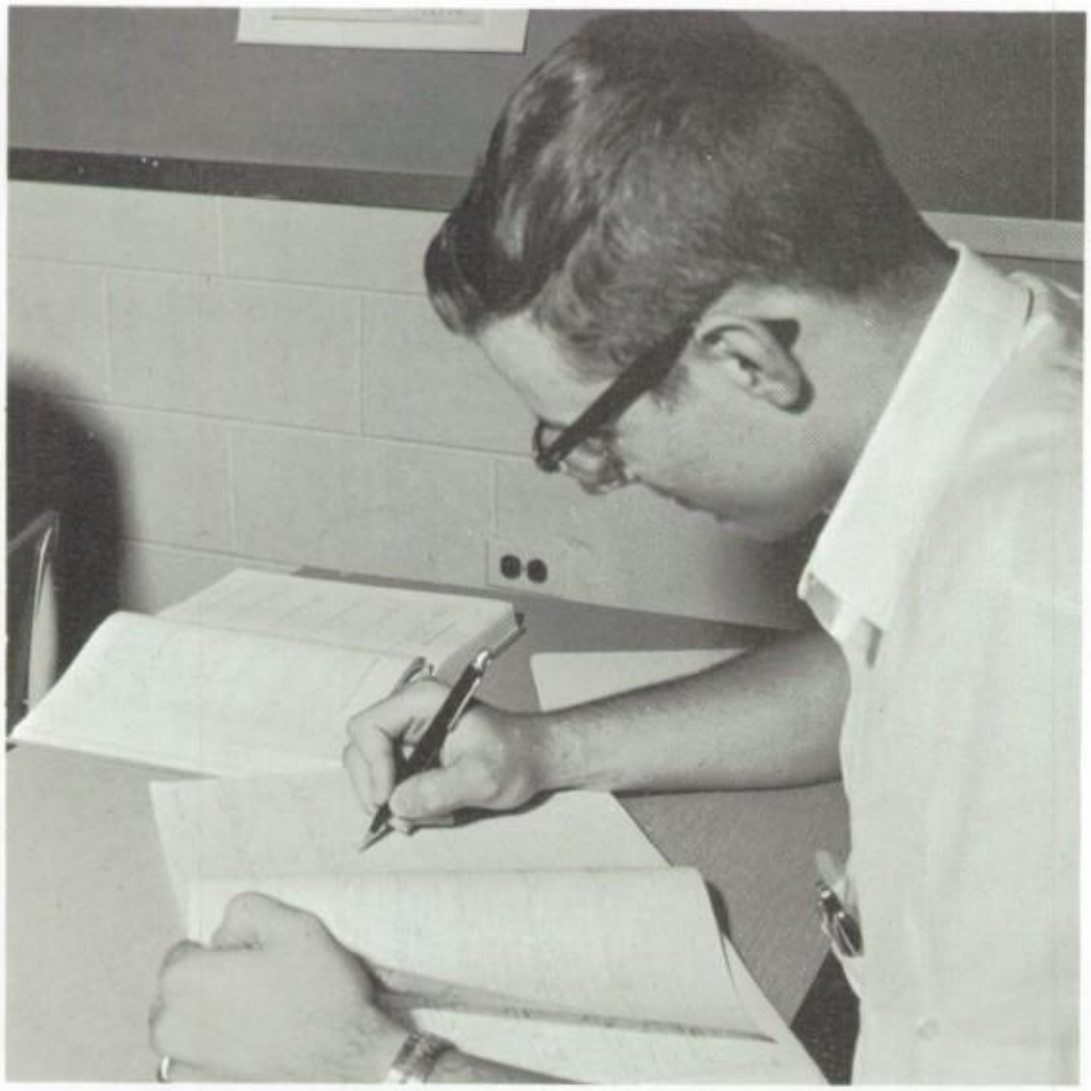
The Latin class plays Latin scrabble.

A Latin class studies Greek mythology.

Bottoms up!

BUSINESS

Typing class takes practice drill in rhythm.



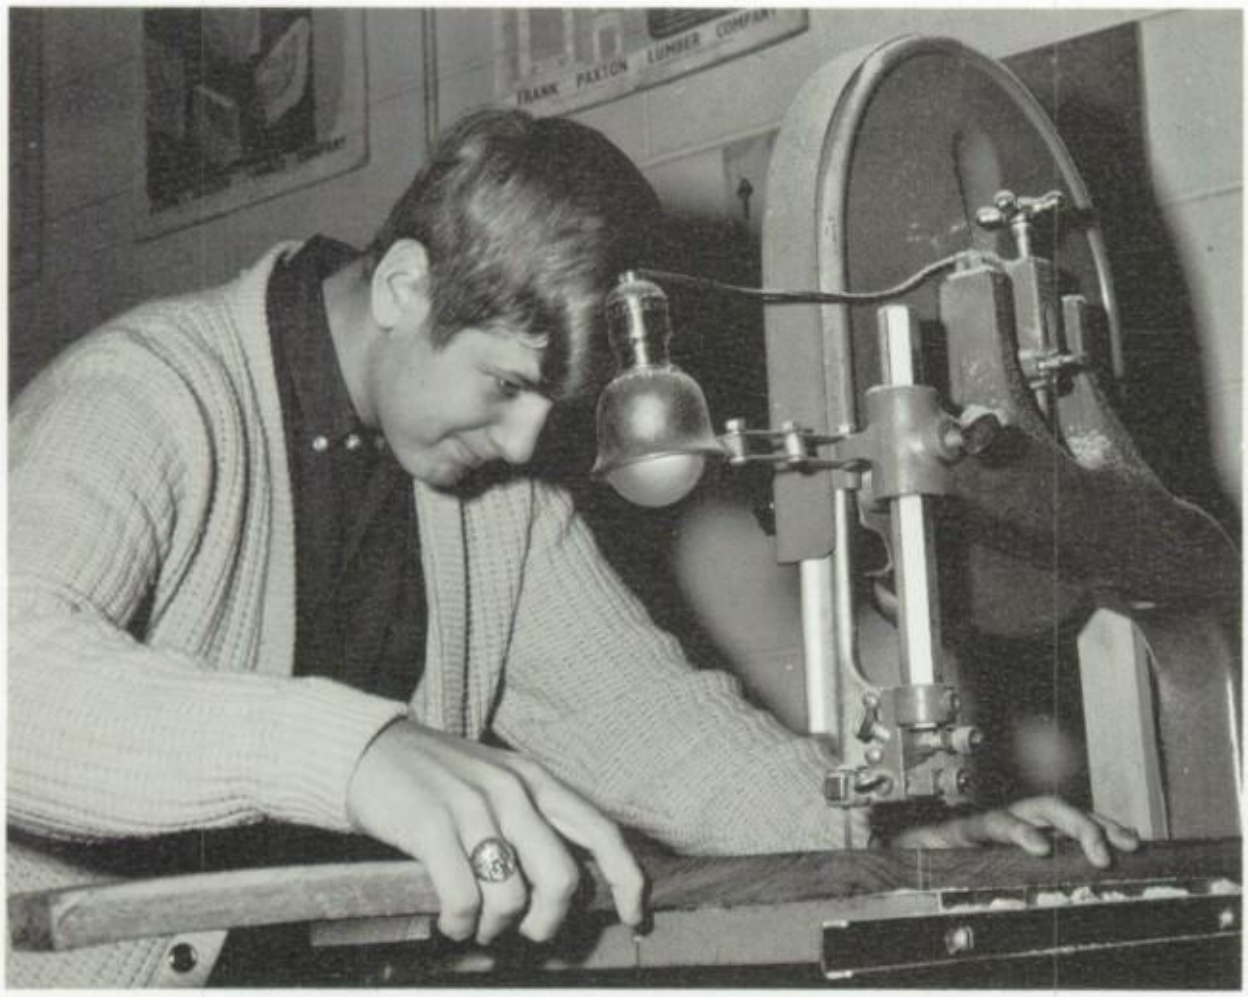
Chuck Brandes works on bookkeeping.

Luther South's business department trains students for the business world. Courses are offered in general business, shorthand, typing, bookkeeping, office practice, and advanced shorthand and transcription.

Sue Harris runs off a mimeo.

Miss Lindquist times the advanced shorthand class.

ARTS



Precision work in shop.

Luther offers a great variety of courses in the arts. Offered are industrial arts, fine arts, and home arts. Industrial arts includes mechanical drawing, architectural drawing, and wood construction. Fine arts is offered in the form of art and music courses. Home arts includes the fundamentals of homemaking.

Mechanical drawing class.

Jeanne Grieser paints in art class.

Mrs. Dubsky explains how to follow a pattern.

MUSIC

Playing the bass takes concentration and wind.

Many types of musical studies are offered to the student interested in music at Luther. If a student is interested in playing an instrument, there are three bands; Beginners Band, Intermediate Band, and Concert Band. For those interested in singing there are the three choirs. For freshmen, Luther has a Freshmen Choir. For the sophomores and juniors there's the Mixed Choir, and for juniors and seniors the Acappella Choir.

Acappella has a practice session.

Mr. Kremer leads Beginners Band practice.

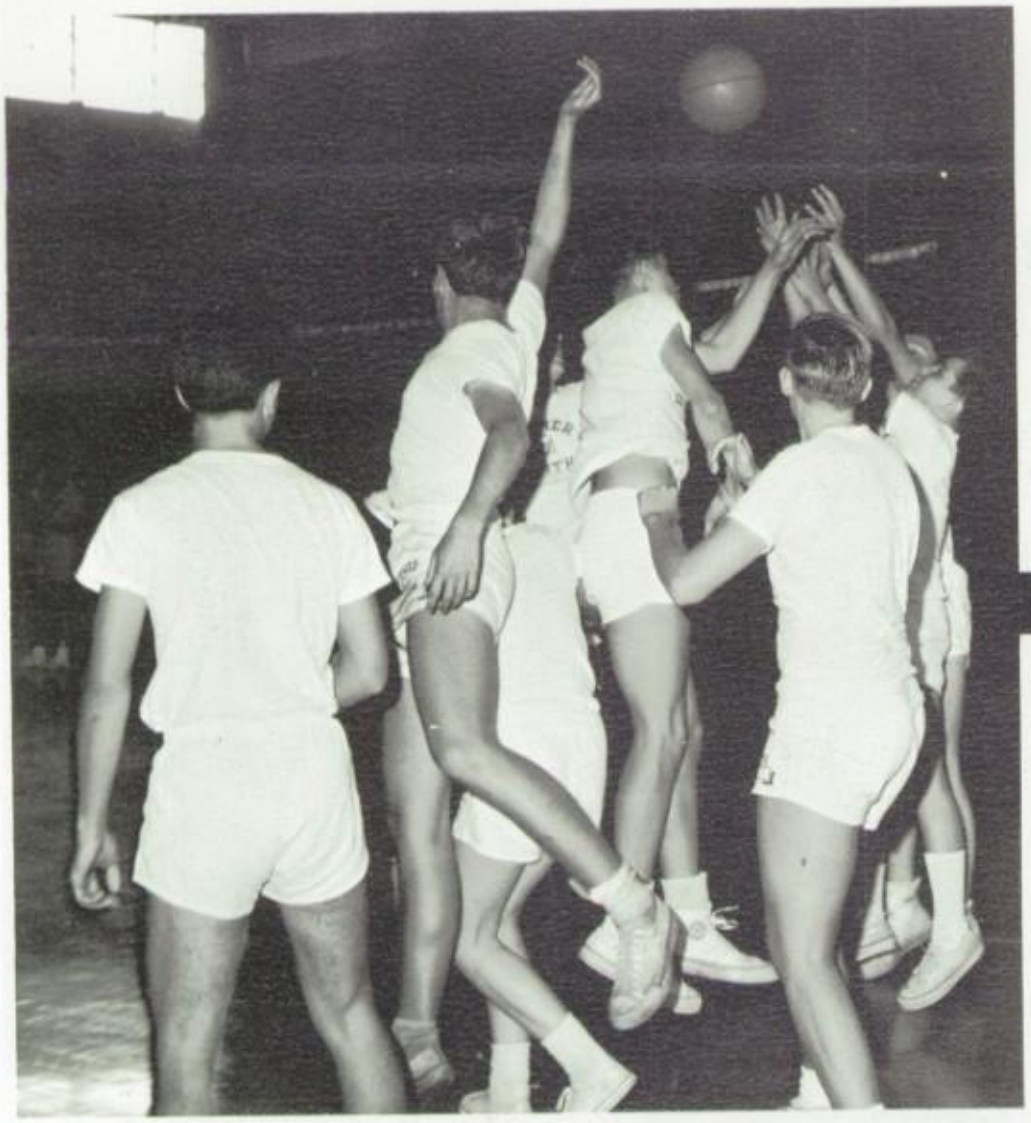
Choraliers practice for music outings.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Physical fitness tests.

Trampoline.

During the three years of physical education taken at Luther by all students, such sports as softball, volleyball, basketball, field hockey, badminton, archery, and gymnastics are offered. A physical fitness record is kept for each student on the basis of fall and spring trials.



Boy's gym class.

Gail on the trampoline.

CONCERT BAND

Luther South has three bands: Beginners, Intermediate, and Concert. Beginners Band is open to any student either with or without previous musical training. This band orientates the student with the fundamentals of music and teaches him how to play his chosen instrument.

If the student's training is a little more advanced, he may go on to the Intermediate Band. This band gives him further experience in order that he may play in the Concert Band.

The Concert Band is composed of students from all four years. Acceptance into the Concert Band depends upon the ability of the student to play his instrument. Mr. Daugherty instructs this band for his first time this year. Mr. Kremer, who is also new this year, is in charge of the other two bands.

The Concert Band is very active at Luther. It participates in the Christmas Concert, the Spring Musical, pep assemblies, football, and basketball games. The highlight of the year is the band concert given by various Lutheran high schools of which Luther South is one. This concert is held at one of the participating high schools.

ACAPPELLA

You were a great asset to Acappella Choraliers! Keep your high C's! C'est bon! Keep up the attaining Musicales! Yours, Richard Hemer

Luther has three choirs open to all students. The freshmen may join the Freshmen Choir, sophomores can enter the Mixed Choir, and the juniors and seniors try out for Acappella.

At every Christmas and Easter these choirs are featured along with the Concert Band in a concert. The choirs are also active in the annual school musical.

The Acappella Choir has within it a special group, Choraliers. Acappella and Choraliers visit various churches and sing for the service. This Christmas season these two groups performed at Ford City and the Evergreen Plaza.

At some of the weekly Tuesday chapel services one of the choirs sing. Mr. Kremer, who is in his first year at Luther, has done a fine job directing the choirs.

South Winds, our school's literary magazine, came into existence three years ago when the English Department sought to find a means to stimulate and reward the efforts of creative writers in the student body. The magazine provides a show case for these writings. It is written and edited by students, the editorial board being composed of student representatives from each class except the freshman class. Any student may submit a piece of writing directly to the board or English teachers may submit worthy pieces that have resulted from an assignment. Student response has been enthusiastic, and each year the sales have increased.

CROSSROADS

One of our monthly school publications, the Crossroads is looked forward to by everyone. It is full of pictures, news, an editorial by Mr. Steinberg, and many feature articles. Included each month is also a class column for each class, various students expressing an opinion. Besides school distribution, the Crossroads is mailed to 250 different spots in the United States and Canada.

The Roman Banquet.

The Latin Club is open to all students who are taking, or who have taken Latin. The yearly dues go toward the Roman Banquet held in the fall. This summer nine students from the Latin Club will be going with Mr. Alexander, the sponsor of the club, to Italy and Greece to study the Roman and Greek culture. The Latin Club has gone to see a Greek tragedy, and has gone to Loyola University where an assembly was presented about Rome.

Little BRAVES get in shape to be big BRAVES.

Being a member of the Frosh-Soph team is a chance for players to gain experience to be used on the Varsity team, as many of the Frosh-Soph players go on to become the football stars of LHS. The Frosh-Soph team is a proving ground and this year the team has proven itself well. With an overal record of 1 loss and 5 wins, losing only a non-conference game, our LITTLE BRAVES won first place in the Private School League.

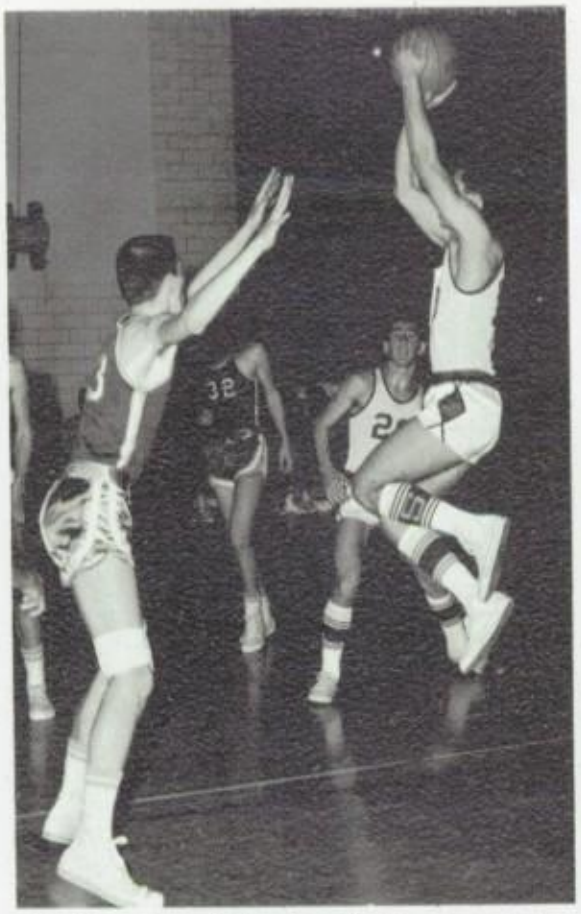
Hey baby, what's happening?

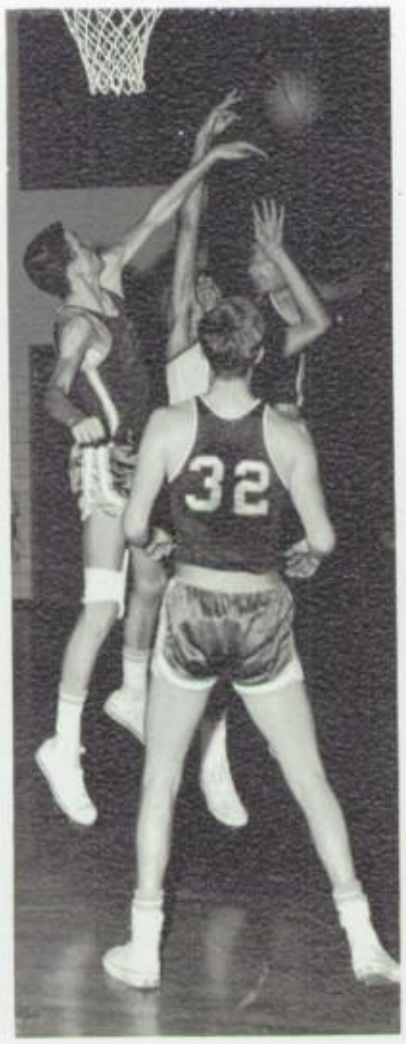
The good guys always wear white.



He flies through the air with the greatest of ease . . . .

Neither snow, rain nor Chicago Christian keeps our BRAVES from the basket.

We're head and shoulders above everyone else.



In spite of terrible odds, BRAVES go, fight, win.

A real breakthrough.

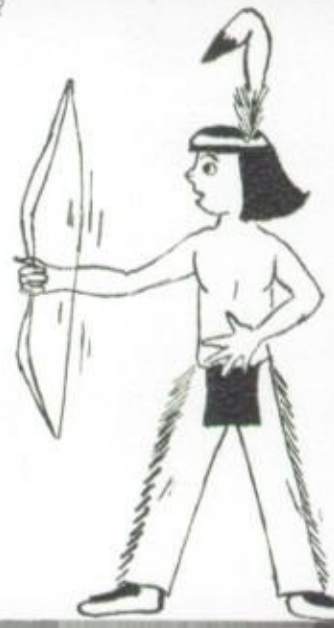
What's the password?



What was the name of that song?

Excuse me!

Now that you're free from your after-school life to what's ahead, I say? Especially when you're all
I'm
as you

HOMECOMING

Freshmen build float.

Despite cold, windy weather, Luther South celebrated Homecoming on October 16th and 17th. The festivities began early in the week when the classes built floats and decorated bulletin boards and windows. The weekend started with a bonfire on Friday evening. The highlight of the evening was Mr. Steinberg's announcement of the Queen of 1966, Carolyn Hall. Her attendants were seniors Sue Kleidon and Gail Briteinbach and juniors Jackie Paul and Peggy Lange. Chris Bogda was chosen by the senior Student Council members as Freshmen Flower Girl. Saturday afternoon the big Braves wiped the Wheaton Warriors 34-0. Saturday evening the students were entertained by the Ivy Five and Nip Nelson. The Homecoming Jamboree closed out one of the most memorable occasions in the school year.

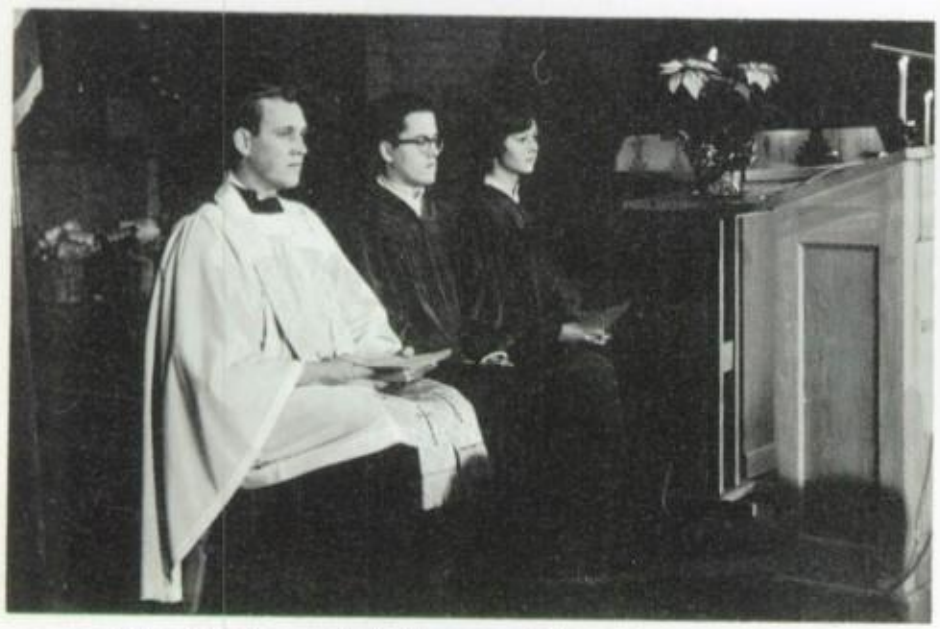
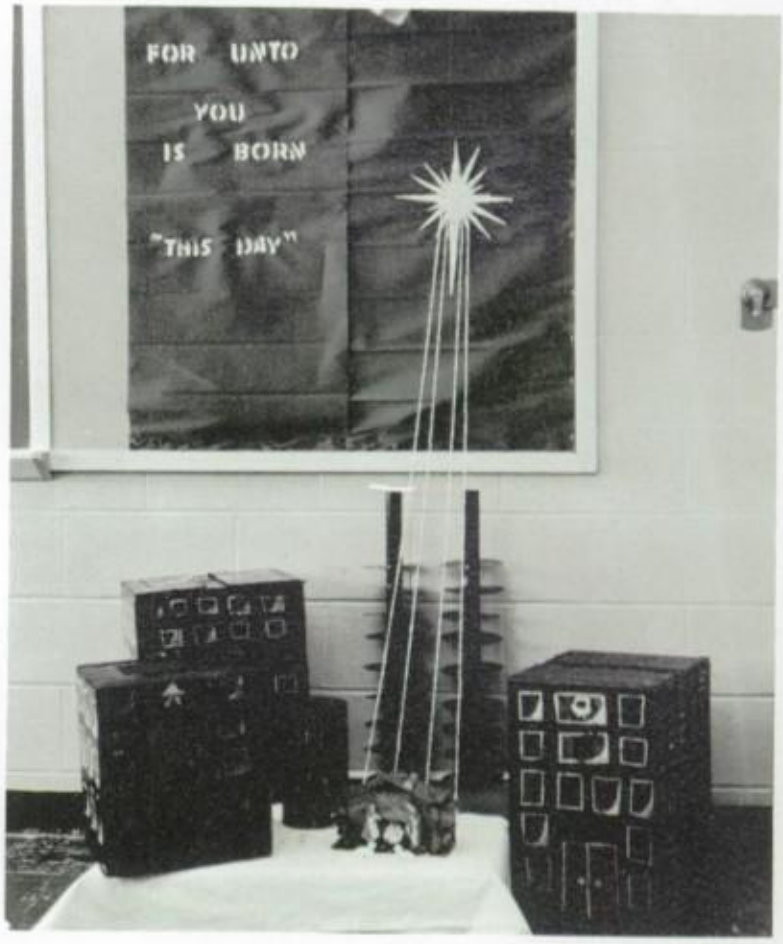
CHRISTMAS AT LUTHER

Awwwwwwwww!

Goodies for the teachers in Mr. Steinberg's office.



School day is concluded with a special Christmas service.



Christmas at Luther South was a very special holiday this year. The students showed the true Christmas spirit by collecting food for needy families. Because of the successful drive, over forty families had a good Christian dinner and a happier holiday.

SENIORS VS. FACULTY

It's a nut in his underwear!

Friends?

It's the White Knight!

Luther gets chorus girls!

The Great Race.

This year St. Patrick's Day was a special occasion at Luther; it was the day of the Senior-Faculty game, played on donkeys! The faculty chose their costumes from the "Wild West," while the great seniors used "Outer Space" as their theme. Out of due respect to the age and frailty of the faculty, the seniors allowed the exhausted teachers to score the winning basket in "sudden death" overtime.

YEAH COOL!

Nancy

These 4 years have really been great - right? Those great English classes. Prob. Soc. - And don't forget TWANG!

Be good always - and lots of luck.

Love Kris

Dear Nancy,
Well, we finally made it. All those memories. Sharon, Maxine, Joe, Charlotte, Velma, the whole group. Then there was Joan & Betty. Anyway good luck in all you do + be good! Keep in touch.

Love
Sue Pottle

Dear Nancy,
I'm glad that we've gotten to have spent all my good & bad times this year. It's really been fun talking to you by notes & stare - and occasionally a word or two. Let's stay as nice as you are always. Beautiful talk we've had & that we are trying to sing. Don't forget the plays & that future & Gods pleasing hope other two years for the future & Gods pleasing.

Love
Don

Dear Nancy,
I'm glad I got to have you for a friend this year. I really have met some good friends this year. Good luck in all you do and be sure and take care of yourself.

Love
Joyce

Dear Nancy,

It's been a ball knowing you these past years. And I'll remember you for a long time. Always stay just as great and as nice as you are. May God bless you and grant you all the happiness you so richly deserve.

Dear Nancy (Dr. Knopf)

I've really counted your friendship at school as ~~a~~ my dearest treasure. If anyone deserves the best it is certainly you! Not only are you very nice (Anyone can be nice) but you are sincere, kind and very honest. Please lets keep in touch. My phone number is 737-1192 so call me sometime ok?

Love
Irma

Dear Nancy:
I'm so glad I got to know you this, because I think you're a simply wonderful person. You're a person who's very sincere & down-to-earth & its great to me to person as original & refreshing as you are. May God Bless your every endeavor. I'm very glad I know someone as nice as you —

Best of luck -
Love
Marlene

P.S.
I'm going to miss you —

Dear Nancy,
I'll always remember that day you fainted in study. You really scared me! Good luck after you finish your schooling in your profession. It's been great sitting next to you in study. We are so "intelligent" in Eng. & especially writing that I think it rubbed off a little on me, my marks in comp. are really improving again, good luck always.

Love,
Debbie
